BBB Reports Get 'A Plus'

The San Diego Better Business Bureau distributed an interesting newsletter the other day. Normally, BBB bulletins are about as dull as a fifty cent jackknife. But the scope and the depth of Cecil Candler's August letter had a little bit of something for everybody. Candler is BBB/SD's manager. In addition to concern with crime, there's humor, pathos and intrigue. Here are samplings:

A citizen made a complaint seriously about Charmin toilet tissue advertising being misleading. He purposely visited a nearby supermarket, sought out the Charmin display, squeezed, and waited. Nobody told him not to, so he charged TV advertising had convinced him that such an admonition was to be expected. TV ads were designed to mislead the public, he claimed.

BBB reported that for $19.95 you can become a member of "The Fraud of the Month Club." The literature is worded to appeal to those having a bit of larceny in their hearts and who might want to use the information for perpetrating their own fraudulent schemes, says BBB.

But the kicker is involved in the complaints coming to the bureau from those who have sent in $19.95 and received nothing.

If true, subscribing consumers have gotten their first lesson in fraud.

Doris Day portrays the sweet and good of femininity. The Doris Day Distributing Co., 9465 Wilshire blvd., Beverly Hills, has been subject of inquiries at BBB. The firm advertises distributorships of pet foods, and pet accessories for $2,400-$11,900 for inventory of products, display racks and sales aids. A statement on the firm's purchase order states that the company is not owned, operated or controlled by Doris Day. However, the the firm's principals have contracted with Miss Day for exclusive distribution of the items offered.

BBB/LA reports that corporate officers of the firm selling distributorships are Sol B. Amen, president (retired) and LeRoy W. Rodde, sec.-treasurer. Amen was principal of Ussery Industries Inc. of Dallas, a vending machine operation subject of numerous inquiries and complaints. The firm filed bankruptcy in 1971. Amen was convicted of mail fraud in connection with a work-at-home scheme in 1971. BBB records show that Rodde was connected with Stereo Tape Club of America, El Segundo, which generated many inquiries to BBBs about alleged unwarranted billing.

The newsletter offers a good expose on how consumers are being ripped off by manufacturers since complicated laws designed to protect the consumer are boomeranging.

Purchasers of many items may soon be paying the same price but getting less warranty protection, or none at all.

The federal Magnuson-Moss Act (July 4) requires that straightforward language be used on warranty tags with regulations under the Federal Trade Commission. Some manufacturers burdened by stiffer regulations, inflation and penny-pinching consumers, are cutting warranties. Here are some of the cutbacks:

Color TV manufacturers — (RCA for one) have chopped warranties from one and two years to 90 days.

Bedding — (Sealy Posturepedic for one) cut warranty 5 years from 20 to 15.

Washers-Dryers — Warranties (Whirlpool for one) cut from two years to one.

Fabrics — A bluejeans maker dropped "toughness" guarantees.

Furniture — removed padding warranty from upholstered goods.

There's more interesting and useful information in the single newsletter of BBB/SD nowadays than there was in a whole year of them when Cecil S. Candler first joined the organization too many years ago to count — (26).

Drug Problem Grows

A generation ago there was no easy-out for drug and alcohol addicts.

Drug users were usually imprisoned and drunks spent days drying out in local slammers.

Today there are 82 organizations in San Diego County alone which provide substance abuse aid programs where abusers are coddled and protected.

These are listed in a booklet produced by the San Diego County Department of Substance Abuse.

The size of the list emphasizes the size of the growing problem.

It also tells us that alcohol and drugs is nowhere near being under control.

And even more frightening, there is no indication that a workable program is in the making.

Lemon Grove Youths Face Borrego Park Arson Charge

The 2,700-acre brush fire in the Anza-Borrego Desert State Park June 12-15 has been blamed on two Lemon Grove youths.

Michael James Kopasek, 17, of 7318 Alberdi dr. faces arraignment in El Cajon Municipal Court September 16 on a felony arson charge.

Steven John Hebner, 17, of 8039 Golden ave. has asked for a rehearing to recertify him to Juvenile Court.

In May, according to authorities, the youths had been arrested for drinking beer in the park and riding a motorcycle off the road. They were placed on probation by juvenile authorities on condition that they not return to the park.

Park authorities said the pair were in a restricted area where no open fires are allowed. The blaze started about 9 p.m. June 12 but the youths didn't notify authorities. They had also started a backfire which also got out of control, it was reported.

The fire was reported by a pilot over the park on June 13.

Added to the felony arson are two misdemeanor counts of allowing a fire to get out of control.

The fire was extinguished after 430 firemen, 4 air tankers, two helicopters and 13 fire engines worked two days over difficult terrain to extinguish the blaze.

The fighting cost is estimated at more than $350,000.

Truck CB Radio Taken

Walter J. Komula's CB radio was missing on August 24 when he entered his truck parked at 514 Alene st., Spring Valley.

The wind-wing was broken and his Surveyor, 23 channel radio worth $115 was taken.

Three Possible Funding Sources Seen for Mt. Miguel Swimming

By John Kowalczyk

Count them!

Now there are three possible governmental funding sources for a Mt. Miguel High School Community swimming pool.

Mt. Miguel Principal Dr. Robert Pyle said this week that the Grossmont Union High School District administration has begun drawing up plans to apply for money from the Federal Public Works Law 94-369, new legislation which calls for up to $2 billion for public recreation projects in high unemployment areas.

Hearings are in progress in Washington, D.C. on the bill which passed in August.

Pyle sees that new legislation as the swimming pool's best of three alternatives. The other two are the County's Parkland Dedication Ordinance which has $400,000 earmarked for the Spring Valley area and the State Bill 174, a $25 million grant to upgrade and expand open space and recreation facilities in urban areas.

Best Chance

The Federal bill is the pool's best chance, Pyle said, since it's meant to aid areas of high employment. "Our unemployment is well above the national average," he said.

Pyle said the County's Parkland Dedication Ordinance is the second most likely chance. The $400,000 ready for local park and recreation projects in Spring Valley hinges upon a County restriction against having to maintain whatever the money eventually pays for.

Grossmont Union High School District has promised to maintain a pool once it is built and has made that a standing agreement since concerned parents and citizens in Spring Valley and Lemon Grove embarked on the pool fundraiser four years ago.

Relegated to third place in the priority list is State Bill 174 which pumped new enthusiasm into the pool project when the leaders of the drive discovered that source in July.

Excitement waned when County officials made it clear that the local share of that appropriation would be dispersed into regional park development rather than for local projects such as swimming pools.

Brown Opposes

Supervisor Dick Brown made his stand clear in a letter to the Lemon Grove Recreation Assn., answering its request for swimming pool money from S.B. 174.

"The Board of Supervisors has determined that urban-type services and programs such as recreation are not suitable functions of county government. Areas desiring such services should either incorporate, annex to an adjacent city or form or expand service areas to fund the desired program," Brown said.

Grossmont Union High School District will be the agent submitting the request for P.L. 94-369 money. It planned to have architectural plans ready for applying this week.

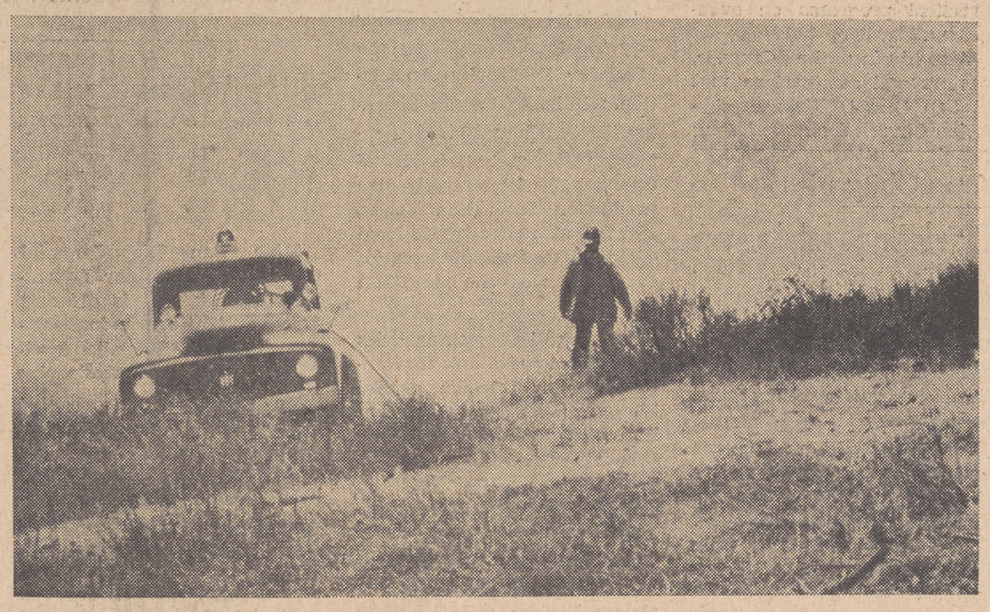
A provision of the bill is that all projects must be underway within 90 days of the appropriation. Preliminary plans have already been drafted for the Miguel Community Aquatics Center, a four-phase building project centered around the new pool.

Phase One is a 25-yard, 8-lane, lighted pool with areas for diving and for juniors.

The other phases include lighting for athletic fields and resodding the soccer and football fields.

Though the facilities are planned on the Mt. Miguel campus, they will be shared by the community at large and are therefore regarded as community projects.

M.C.A.C. has verbal support from Spring Valley Park and Recreation, and the Lemon Grove School District.



HILLTOP FIRE — An unidentified Lemon Grove fireman checks progress of a small grass fire which broke out on Murray Hill last week. The fire threatened nearby homes but was extinguished before it could cause structural damage. Both Lemon Grove Fire Chief Robert Adams and Spring Valley Battalion Chief Daniel Schultz reported that the brush fires in Lemon Grove and Spring Valley are less frequent than usual for this time of year, despite the typical hot, dry late summer weather. Most local brush fires are caused by children with matches, Schultz said.

L.G. Info Center Loses EDD Aide; L.G. CoC Offers Job Assistance

The state Employment Development Department (EDD) has dropped Lemon Grove as a branch office, Eldon Rowe, manager of the El Cajon EDD office told the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce last week.

He said that EDD programs are being cut back and the one-day a week, one-man L.G. operation was not productive enough to continue.

The program in Lemon Grove had a two months trial at the Lemon Grove Information Center operated by Fred Anderson at 3270 Main st.

Anderson said 81 persons had registered for work counseling and that only 67 were interviewed, and of these, 39 were considered "work ready."

During the two-months effort, no job was found for any applicant, he said.

Rowe said EDD job placements ran about 5 per cent of the applicants.

Olin Thompson said that private enterprise employment agencies average is 30 per cent success with applicants. His information, he said, resulted from a telephone survey he made.

Rowe said lack of transportation was the cause of applicants not finding work. "Public transportation does not adequately serve job seekers," he asserted. He also said the solution is for each community to supply jobs for their residents.

EDD has assigned an office at 42nd and National ave. as the one serving Lemon Grove.

"That's very inconvenient," remarked Chamber president Bob Guest.

"They wouldn't be turned away if they came to El Cajon," Rowe replied.

The directors then authorized the setting up of a local employment office in the chamber office at Imperial and Broadway.

Office manager Glenda Jackson was instructed to accept job opportunities from local business firms and make them available to local residents.

The chamber office is open 9-2 daily. The phone is 469-9621.

Building Moratorium Possible In SV, If Sewage Hits Peak

What to do with sewage in the teeming metropolis of San Diego hit home last week as the County Board of Supervisors temporarily blocked nine individual annexations to the Spring Valley Sanitation District.

Supervisor Dick Brown sought for and won a delay in granting the annexations to buy time for a staff study of the sewage situation in the East County community.

The board agreed to allow a three week delay.

County staff has also sent a memo to County Counsel requesting information regarding what action is within the Board's power to place a moratorium on building in areas where growth has taxed the sewage treatment system near its limits.

The annexations delayed last week total 89.92 acres of properties ranging in size from .24 to 48.04 acres.

Diane Barlow, staff assistant to Supervisor Dick Brown, said Spring Valley has recently been a "very active" area with regard to building permit activity, and the area's sewage system is fast approaching its contracted capacity.

The Spring Valley Sanitation District feeds into the San Diego city sewage system under a contract which calls for a maximum feed of six million gallons a day (m.g.d.).

"Spring Valley is feeding at least five million gallons a day today," Barlow said.

"The possibility of expanding the terms of the contract is almost nil," she said, "because the Pt. Loma Treatment Plant, where the sewage ends up, is nearly treating its designed capacity."

Pt. Loma was treating more than 113 m.g.d. according to a study taken at the end of 1975. Its capacity is 120 m.g.d.

A major contributor in Spring Valley's sewage district is Otay Municipal Water District, which is under a contractural agreement with the Spring Valley Sanitation District.

That contract expires in 1978 at which time, a County timeline shows, the water district should have a 200 m.g.d. treatment plant in operation.

But there is little likelihood such plant can be built by then. Construction has been held up while Otay awaits a decision by the State Water Authority on an appeal for a less costly demineralization process.

The Regional Quality Control Board has instructed local water districts to increase desalination at treatment plants.

Just what the present sewage flow is in Spring Valley is another subject the Board of Supervisors wants clarified during the three week delay.

A report released July 20 by the County Department of Sanitation and Flood Control records a sewage flow of 4.522 m.g.d. and projects the figure will jump to 4.95 m.g.d. in 12 months.

A report at the end of 1975 prepared by the city of San Diego shows a different figure, Barlow said. Their year-end measure showed 5.063 m.g.d., indicating that a decline in sewage of 1/2 m.g.d. took place during the first half of 1976.

"This is extremely unlikely because we know there have been more hook-ups to the Spring Valley system between those times," Barlow said.

Heat Registers 103

The heat hit the fan in the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area Monday.

Local weather stations (at fire stations) reported a season high of 103 in mid-afternoon.

Clouds created by the hot, humid air dropped a shower on various spots of the community. None was enough to be measureable.

S.V. Man Hurt In 1-Car Wreck

Gary W. Jarrell, 27, of 10062 Cristobal dr., Spring Valley, was taken to Cabrillo Medical Center on August 24, after he was thrown from his car in a one-car accident on the transition road from eastbound I-8 to I-5.

The Highway Patrol reported that he was thrown 60 feet into the air after his car struck a concrete bridge support. He landed on a center guardrail of I-5.

Median Home Price Up 1.5% Within Month

The median price for an existing home in California in June jumped 1.5 per cent over the preceding month, and 8.8 per cent since last January, according to the latest statistics released today by the California Association of Realtors' Research Department.

CAR's monthly survey shows that the median price of an existing home in June was $47,875, compared to the May median price of $47,160, and the January, 1976 figure of $44,000. The average median price for an existing home for the first six months of this year was $46,022, according to research department figures.

The monthly survey is based on information taken from a representative cross section of 31 Boards of Realtors in California.

3 Altered Bills Passed in Area

Altered twenties are floating in the area again.

Counterfeiters trim one corner off of each of four 20 dollar bills and tape them on matching corners of one dollar certificates.

The twenties are legally acceptable with one corner missing. The altered dollar bill provides the conterfeiter with a nineteen dollar profit.

Last week on Wednesday at 7:15 p.m. Sheriff's deputy Charles Gouge responded to such a call at the 70th-University Jack-in-the-Box. A white, male juvenile had offered an altered twenty at the drive-in window. The clerk called the sheriff while delaying the customer's order. Gouge's patrol unit sealed off the driveway exit. He took the suspect into custody when the clerk displayed the altered bill he had given.

The suspect, a 17-year old State College student, may have been involved in other such alterations according to a report said to be made by the U. S. Treasury Department.

At least three such cases have been listed in the past few days. The Treasury Department reports that the penalty for perpetrating such alteration is five years imprisonment and/or $1,000 fine.

Several years ago passing altered bills in the Lemon Grove area became almost epidemic. Business firms are urged to note that twenties do not carry the picture of George Washington.

Dragging a thumbnail across the corner to feel the tape is another test — in case you can't remember, it's Andrew Jackson's picture on the twenty.

Tax Rate Cut 33.9 Cents

The county property tax rate was lowered 33.9 cents Tuesday by the Board of Supervisors, moments before Gov. Brown signed a bill awarding the county $3 million, a reimbursement for overpayments to the state Medi-Cal program during the 60's.

The cut lowered the tax rate from $2.621 per $100 assessed valuation to $2.28.

The assessed value of property is 25 per cent of its market value.

Burglar Takes Gun

A 25 cal. automatic was stolen from the master bedroom of the residence occupied by Mary Ann Calhoun, 2591 Bonita st., Lemon Grove, while she was away on August 24.

There was no sign of evidence of entry visible so it is not known how the burglar got in.

Graham Crusade Draws 30,000 Nightly in SD

An average of 1,250 people nightly walked forward during the Greater San Diego Billy Graham Crusade, August 13-20 in San Diego Stadium, when Evangelist Billy Graham invited them to "follow a living Christ who is coming back."

Many noticed a change in Graham's message and invitation. He spoke more on the cost of following Christ in a revolutionary age than in earlier Crusades, to a crowd that averaged more than 30,000 a night.

Graham spoke to nearly 10,000 Marines and their dependents at Camp Pendleton where the Commanding General of the Marine Corps Base, Major-General C. W. Hoffman introduced the Evangelist to his men as one "consistently identified" with the gospel.

Hundreds of Marines stepped forward for counseling at the conclusion of the meeting and several attended the evevening meetings in San Diego Stadium.

Early in the Crusade, the Congress on Discipleship and Evangelism (CODE '76) drew nearly 1,500 young people in leadership positions in their churches to San Diego State University for three days of intensive biblical studies and practical programs on evangelism.

Also during the Crusade, pastors and seminarians met at San Diego's First Presbyterian Church for a week-long School of Evangelism taught by theologians and pastors from the United States and several foreign countries. Pastors representing 65 denominations from 51 states, two Canadian provinces and six other countries including Israel, South Africa and India attended.

Billy Graham's next major Crusade will be held in the 80,500 seat Pontiac Metropolitan Stadium in Southeastern Michigan, October 15-24. He remarked, "The stadium is three times too big for the Crusade — but God will touch thousands of lives in Michigan, Northern Ohio and Southwest Ontario."

No classes are held on Thursday, September 9, California Admission Day, and full day sessions, 8:30 to 2:30 p.m., resume Friday.

Children must bring lunches and wear uniforms the first day of school and thereafter, with the exception of kindergarten children who are not required to wear uniforms.

The school office is open this week to accept tuition and other fees.

Grove Pastor Gets Award From DAR

Rev. Herbert Johnson, pastor of Lemon Grove Lutheran Church, was honored by the Linares Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution at last Sunday's services.

A surprise presentation was made by Mrs. Jerry J. Strayer, Chapter Regent, and Mrs. Ray C. Laaker, chaplain of the Chapter who presented an award in recognition of the Bicentennial Sunday services on July 4, 1976. Rev. Johnson has dedicated himself this Bicentennial year to praying for our country and its third century.

"Proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof," from Leviticus 25:10, was the basis for the July 4 services at the local church; it is also the DAR state theme, as well as being found on the Liberty Bell.

Members of the congregation joined in the honoring of their pastor by the ladies and the chapter they represent.

MD Assn. Protects Beneficiaries With Two-Type Flu Protection

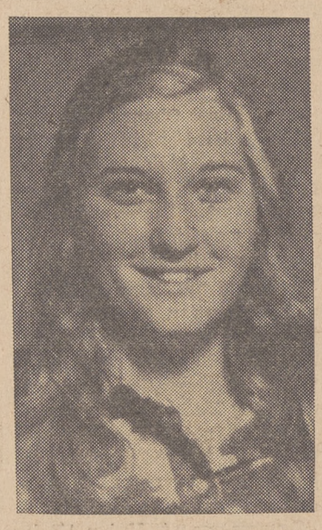
The San Diego-Imperial Chapter of Muscular Dystrophy Association is offering free anti-influenza innoculations this year to patients afflicted by muscular dystrophy or related neuromuscular diseases.

Unlike last year, two types of flu vaccine are now available. One is called "monovalent" and is effective against the common A-Victoria strain of flu virus. The other is called "bivalent" and is for use against both common flu and swine flu.

The San Diego-Imperial Chapter of MDA will pay for monovalent innoculations of all muscular dystrophy patients. The shots can be given by the patients' own physicians or by the physicians at the local MDA Clinic, according to the Chapter's Public Health Education Committee.

All patients are urged to check with their physicians about which innoculations, if any, they should receive. Children and adults afflicted with neuromuscular disease are generally considered "high risk" and should receive a flu shot annually.

MDA, however, does not recommend administration of the bivalent innoculations — which contain the swine flu vaccine — to patients under the age of 25. Adverse side effects have been reported in more than one-fourth of the individuals under 25 who have received swine-flu innoculations.



FROM MEXICO CITY—Linda Mangels, Spring Valley honor student, recently returned from Mexico City as a summer student with International Cultural Exchange. Under the program, a student is placed in a private home where she is welcomed as a member of the family. The student is able to absorb the culture and customs of the country first hand. Miss Mangels, a junior at Monte Vista High, attended a concentrated Spanish course while in Mexico for which she received a diploma. Her host family and the experience will be unforgettable, she said. Intercultural Exchange accepts applications for students and host families through its local director, Marge Archambault, at 464-1565.

MDA's position on swine-flu innoculation for this age group is in compliance with the recommendations of the American Academy of Pediatrics and the U. S. Public Health Service.

Patients over the age of 25 may receive bivalent flu vaccine at San Diego-Imperial Chapter's expense, if the shot is recommended by an MDA clinic physician or the patient's personal physician.

MDA supports 163 clinics throughout the fifty states, and in Guam and Puerto Rico. The MDA Clinic serving this area is located at Children's Hospital.

Half of the funds which support MDA's wide range of free medical services and worldwide neuromuscular research are raised by the annual Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon, which will be seen in the San Diego area over KGTV 10 from 6 p.m. Sunday to 3:30 p.m. Monday.

VFW Aids M.D. Project

Members of Mission Valley Veterans of Foreign Wars Post and Auxiliary No. 3787 will take part in the Jerry Lewis National Muscular Dystrophy Telethon Sunday and Monday at the Sheraton Harbor Hotel on Harbor Island drive.

Reduce Risk Factors, Reduce Stroke, Says Heart Assn. President

If you have high blood pressure, high cholesterol or smoke heavily, there is a strong possibility that you are a candidate for a stroke, according to G. Patrick Moore, president of the San Diego County Heart Assn.

"Stroke occurs when the blood supply to the brain is cut off," Moore said.

"One of the most common causes is when a small clot forms inside one of the brain arteries. When stroke occurs, this clot interferes with the supply of oxygen-rich blood to the brain cells which in turn seriously affects such functions as speaking, bodily movements, memory, etc."

Medical research has identified the person most likely to have a stroke as one with high blood pressure. If the individual also has a high level of cholesterol or is a heavy smoker, the chances of having a stroke are greatly increased.

The best protection against stroke is to reduce the risk factors, Moore said.

This is a first-time-event from the Port of San Diego and special assistance is being provided by the San Diego Convention and Visitors Bureau. The ship will cruise 350 miles off shore and offer a kaleidoscope of recreation, culinary achievements and entertainment.

Rosenberger regularly concertizes internationally, appearing with the leading British, European and American orchestras. Recently she made three discs for Delos Records and has additional recording sessions coming up soon.

Casa de Oro Girl Wins World Dance Title

By John Kowalczyk

When you think of the summer Olympics in Montreal, you can't help but think of the Romanian pixie Nadia Comaneci who made athletic history with several perfect scoring performances in gymnastics.

Now, it appears that a hometown girl — Casa de Oro, to be specific — has its own Nadia.

She is 10-year-old Lori Giebel, sixth grader at Highlands Elementary School, who recently won world honors for her dancing and acrobatic skills in the Universal Pageant System's Our Little Miss finals.

Maybe it's unfair to compare Olympic gymnastics to acrobatic dancing, but the audience appeal between the two is closely matched, as Lori so aptly demonstrated for judges last month.

With plenty of charitable backing from local businessmen, service organizations and the people of the Casa de Oro community, Lori was able to take her winning state title to Baton Rouge, Louisiana where she won "World Best Tap Acrobat" honors in the Our Little Miss Division (girls 7 through 12).

Lori, who has collected one ribbon, one plaque and 27 trophies since she began studying dance nearly seven years ago, started her climb to the top this year by winning the pageant system's local "Best Overall" trophy.

She went on to Palm Springs in July for the state finals and came home with "Best Talent in State" honors and the right to compete in the August World Finals in Baton Rouge.

All three times, it was the tap-acrobat routine to the tune "Johnson's Rag" which won judge's favor.

About two dozen girls in the World Finals won titles. In Lori's category, 165 girls competed.

The award entitled her to attend next year's Palm Springs state finals as a guest and to compete again in the World Pageant.

Her success this year came as a surprise to parents Mr. and Mrs . John Giebel who really didn't expect her to go beyond the local pageant.

When she won a berth in the world competition, the family immediately went to work on various fund raising projects.

They made appeals to local merchants to donate passes and prizes for a raffle and sold tickets for $1. That netted $200 for the trip.

Lori was also asked to perform before the Spring Valley and Lakeside Rotary Club luncheons. After the shows, they passed the hat and collected another $100.

Most of the merchants contacted donated something to the cause, Giebel said. Top prize, an AM/FM clock radio, was donated by Bill's TV.

Other contributors were Pizza Hut, Sea World, San Diego Zoo, Carl's Jr. and Wallace TV.

The Giebel family got a couple extras from the raffle. Lou's Garage won a Gold Pass from Sea World and donated it back to the family, which had never had a chance to visit the seaside park. Gaetano's Pizza won a Pizza Hut free pizza coupon and donated it to the family, for obvious reasons.

Next year, the family will be better prepared. Mr. Giebel, a custodian for Union-Tribune publishers, has begun putting money away into the credit union at work, with hopes of having enough for the Baton Rouge trip by August, 1977.

Also, Miss Ginger's Dance Boutique in Lakeside — where Lori has studied tap, acrobatics, jazz and ballet — plans a year of fund raising to help its top students in the contests.

Meanwhile, Lori continues to practice her craft just about any time and any place she gets the chance. Mrs. Giebel points out the wear on her dining room chairs from Lori doing back flips after meals.

It's common to see her blur past the living room while the rest of the family watches TV. Outside at play she continues her skills at hand stands, flips and a series of contortions which make her appear as if she were made of rubber.

Her younger sister, Sheri, 6, has collected trophies, too. This year she entered the youngest division of Our Little Miss competition but had to drop out of the state competition because of illness.

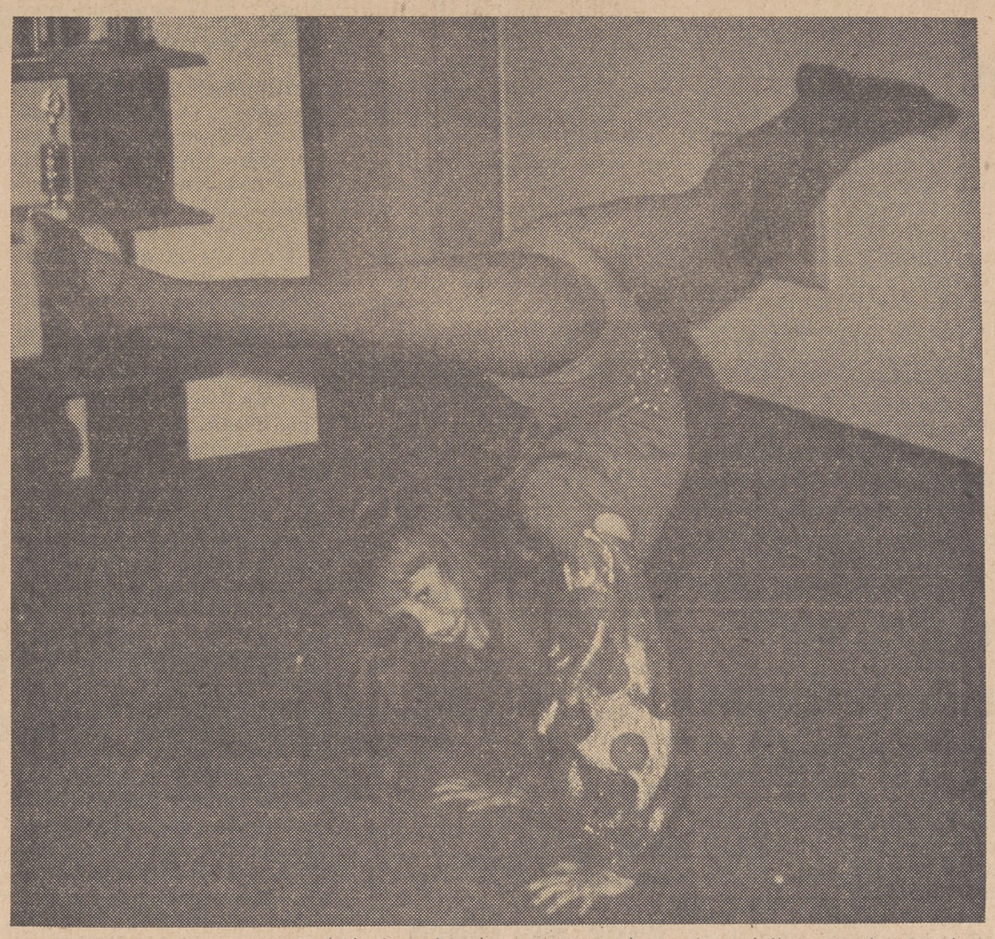
Both children sing in the children's choir at Skyline Wesleyan Church in Lemon Grove.

Lori wants to be a dance teacher when she grows up, perform for people and use her talent to spread the word of God, who, she says, gave her the gift.

In addition to the dancing and singing, Lori takes piano and violin lessons. "She also wants to study hula," said Mrs. Giebel, "but I told her we would let her if we could get eight or nine days out of the week."

Lori accomplishes much in her spare time and still has managed to get top grades in school.

She may not have a gold medal, but Lori Giebel maintains an Olympian schedule and makes good use of a precious talent.



FLIPS FOR TITLE — Lori Giebel does hand stand, one of several acrobatic feats the talented 10-year-old can perform. She put her dancing and tumbling skills to work recently and won a world title.

SD Ballet To Perform 'Swan Lake'

The San Diego Ballet Company will present two full-length performances of the immortal classic "Swan Lake" at the San Diego Civic Theatre — on Friday, September 10, 8 p.m. and Sunday, September 12, 2:30 p.m.

"Swan Lake," first staged 100 years ago at the Bolshoi Theatre in Moscow, is a beautiful fairy tale of bewitched maidens, a handsome prince, a wicked sorcerer and a lovely princess transformed into a swan.

It's a classic tale of love triumphant over evil. The San Diego Ballet Company performance has been staged after the original choerography by Petipa and Ivanov to the immortal music of Tschaikovsky.

San Diego Ballet Company Executive Director, Patrick Kelley has announced the appointment of Keith Martin of the San Francisco Ballet as special Guest Director for the new "Swan Lake" production.

For San Diego Civic performances of "Swan Lake," the 55 piece orchestra will be under the baton of Charles Ketcham, associate conductor of the San Diego Symphony.

The San Diego Ballet Company will salute the opening of the City's Fall Performing Arts Season with a festive "Grand Salon Party" following the September 10th performance. Company members will be on hand to greet their audience and cheeses and wines will be served. Celebrants may purchase tickets for the "Grand Salon Party" at the Civic Theatre Box Office.

"Swan Lake" tickets are priced at $9, $8, $6.50 and $5 and are on sale at the Civic Theatre Box Office and all Ticketron agencies. Discounts for students, seniors and military are available from the Box Office.

Woman's Posters Add Patriotic Touch to Lemon Grove Library

By John Kowalczyk

Helen Hobbs was concerned about the lack of bicentennial observances in Lemon Grove. So she came upon an idea which would fill that gap and fulfill her own desire to cross the threshhold of our country's third century with ceremony.

While reading a book, titled "California-Colonial History Time-Line 1769-1783," published by the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission of California, she hit upon the notion that few people know or have brought up the question of what was happening locally — specifically in California — while the colonists were struggling with the British for our independence back East.

To fill that bicentennial knowledge gap, Hobbs took felt-tip pen in hand and drew up a poster-size display juxtaposing historical highlights in the colonies with events which were taking place simultaneously in California.

She used her amateur drawing skill, and illustrations in "Time-Line" to illustrate her posters which have been squeezed onto the walls and counters of the diminutive Lemon Grove Library.

The spare time project now adds a touch of informative celebration to our 200th birthday year at the local library.

Librarian Neale Clifford says regulars at the Pacific ave., County branch have been drawn into the pictorial study and frequently ask when the next installment will appear.

"I love history, especially of this area," Mrs. Hobbs said. "I guess this is because I am the daughter of a native Californian who is the daughter of a native Californian. Unlike many people who come here from other places and leave family behind, all my roots are here. I love Lemon Grove (especially the library) and enjoy raising a family here."

Mrs. Hobbs and husband Joe have a son, Loren Dean, 9, who attends San Miguel Elementary, like his mom did. The Hobbs are presently restoring a 50 yr. old home on Cuyamaca ave.

In addition to sketching, Mrs. Hobbs stays active at a new marketing business while Joe works for the County. A girl scout "all my life" she presently is den mother for a local cub scout pack.

The library display will continue through the end of the year, Mrs. Hobbs said.

HISTORIC COMPARISON — Life-time Lemon Grove resident Helen Hobbs checks out poster tracing history of both the colonies and California during a month in 1776. Mrs. Hobbs is hand-lettering and illustrating posters tracing the historic highlights of east and west coasts during the memorable year. Material is based on the book "California-Colonial History Time-Line 1769-1783."

Kelly purchased the last of the $12 tour tickets for the trip which included a visit to the Queen Mary in addition to the taping of the popular network TV game show.

Also on the tour was Lynn Steinberg, teacher at Rancho Elementary in Spring Valley, who was selected from "The Price is Right" audience to appear on another game show, "Family Feud."

Padres Add Fireworks, TV To 5:40 Labor Day Game

The San Diego Padres, the team which has kept fans dangling between hope and despair all year, are headed for final month of play — plus two games in Los Angeles in October.

Even with the season's ups-and-downs, the Padres is one of four teams which could finish in the number three spot in the National League Western Division when the final accounting takes place. To get the ball rolling down the homestretch, the Padres will be finishing out a three-game series with the Pittsburgh Pirates in Steeltown on September 2 and then heading into San Francisco for the final time in 1976 for single games on September 3-4 and a doubleheader on the 5th.

Then it will be back to San Diego to begin a 10-game homestand on September 6 against the Los Angeles Dodgers in what could be one of the biggest evenings for the Padres in San Diego ever. The clash between the Padres and Dodgers has been selected for ABC's Monday Night Baseball which means the contest will get a national TV audience.

The Padres haven't appeared at home on TV since 1969.

Early Gametime

Due to the telecast, the game time has been switched from 7 p.m. to 5:40 p.m. The time change will not affect the Padres Labor Day plans which call for a gala fireworks program to follow the encounter.

Additionally, the game will also be Central Federal Back-to-School Jacket Night with the first 10,000 youngsters 14 years of age and under receiving a free vinyl Padre jacket compliments of Central Federal Savings.

The complete home schedule calls for the Padres to test the Dodgers September 6-7 (the game on the 7th to begin at 7 p.m.), the Atlanta Braves in 7 p.m. encounters on September 8-9 and the Houston Astros on September 10-11.

The matchup on the 10th will be a 6 p.m. doubleheader (the final regularly scheduled twin bill of the season on the home plate) while the finale on the 11th will go at the normal 7 p.m. Following an open date on Sunday, September 12, the Padres will conclude the homestand with three 7 p.m. games with the San Francisco Giants, September 13-14-15.

This 10-game stand will all but conclude activity in San Diego for the season as the only other home encounters of the year will be on September 27-28-29 when the Padres entertain the Cincinnati Reds.

Two-Night Race Program Fills Cajon Speedway Card

Two days of auto racing are on the Cajon Speedway weekend schedule.

A 76-lap Bicentennial super stock feature is scheduled for Saturday night.

CRA sprint cars take over the 3/8th mile track Sunday night.

Each of the special programs begin with qualifications set for 6:30 and the trophy dash for 8.

The super stocks will forego heat races and put emphasis on a 10-lap consolation, a 20-lap semi-main the longer feature.

Added to the Saturday program will be a 10-lap powder-puff derby — an event postponed from last week when a plethora of crack-ups caused the cancellation.

Sprint car drivers will participate in four 10-lap progressive heats and a 12-lap semi-main before the 30-lapper for 20 cars.

Last Week

Last week, Lanny Pemberton racked up his 4th super stock with a 12:19.36 race punctuated by splintered crash walls, oily slides and a brake fluid smoke screen.

Pemberton is tied with Pat McIntyre, who dropped from first to second, each having 1905 points. That moved Gary Beecroft into first place by 75 points.

Pemberton and Beecroft are Lemon Grove racers; McIntyre is from Spring Valley.

It was Pemberton's Camero which spewed smoke from about the 13th lap when the front brake went out and fluid on the hot metal set up the smoke screen.

Walls on both straightaways had to be repaired after Jack Hoden plowed into one during the warmups and Lerry Templeton did likewise in the main event. When Powder Puffer Valarie Ramey smashed the north corner barrier officials decided to postpone the women's event.

Two consolations had to be held since 67 cars were in the pits for qualifying runs.

The semi-main had three restarts.

Both games will be followed by "This Is Baseball."

Return of Beaver

Beavers, once practically extinct, are staging a comeback in Texas.

Wakely and Devine Signed To Mariners Growing Roster

San Diego Mariner coach Ron Ingram went to opposite ends to sign a pair of players this week when he received agreements from goaltender Ernie Wakely and winger Kevin Devine.

Wakely is a quiet-spoken netminder who can often be overlooked in a crowd while the spunky Devine is the firebrand type who was San Diego's penalty minutes leader last year despite his 5-9, 175-pound frame.

The signings brought the number of players in the Mariners fold to five, a far cry from a completed roster but more are expected to come to terms this week as the September 18 training camp opening approaches.

In addition to Wakely and Devine, San Diego previously announced agreements with center Bob Dobek and center-winger Tim O'Connell and obtained winger Gary Veneruzzo from Phoenix.

Ingram said that Archie King, the team's sixth round pick in this summer's amateur draft, will report to camp. King is a 5-8, 170-pound right winger who helped the Ontario Hockey Assn.'s Hamilton Fincups to the Memorial Cup Championships.

"Archie can fly and he's ready to battle for a job," according to Ingram. "I saw him in the Cup finals and it was his hustle that turned the tide for Hamilton."

King scored 56 goals with 73 assists in two years with Hamilton and had 101 penalty minutes.

Varsity Goaltender

Wakely has been San Diego's main goaltender since he was purchased from Winnipeg midway through the 1974-75 campaign. He finished third among WHA goalies with a 3.25 goals against average that season and was fifth at 3.26 this year.

"With Ernie signed, the scramble will be for the back-up spot," said Ingram.

At present, Ingram has Russ Gillow returning and Bob Blanchet coming up from NAHL Binghamton and he indicated he may soon have another candidate.

Devine, a second round draft pick two years ago, collected 21 goals and 28 assists from his left wing spot this past season as a part of the "Kid Line," teaming with center Joe Noris and right winger Alec Tidey. His 102 minutes was tops for San Diego in the penalty department.

Debutante, DM Handicap Brighten Track's Weekend

Two of the richest races of the Del Mar summer season— the estimated $95,000 Del Mar Debutante for two-year-old fillies and the invitational $100,000 Del Mar Handicap for the West's outstanding older horses — will highlight the seaside course's upcoming Labor Day holiday weekend of equine action.

The Debutante, carded at one mile, will have its 26th running Sunday, while the 37th running of the Del Mar Handicap at the Crosby Course distance of 120 feet less than a mile and one-quarter will top the program Labor Day, Monday.

The Del Mar Handicap, shifted to the main track from the grass this season, promises to attract a brilliant field of stakes stars, including Arthur A. Seeligson Jr.'s Avatar, hero of the 1975 Belmont Stakes; Navonod Stable's stretch-charging George Navonod, winner of the Charles H. Strub Stakes at Santa Anita last winter, and the syndicated Lightning Mandate, victor in the San Pasqual Handicap and San Antonio Stakes this year.

Other candidates for the classic include Yu Wipi, the son of Dr. Fager who won the Longacres Mile; Mrs. M. Troy Jones' Mark's Place, Cardiff Stock Farm's Branford Court, $31.40 upsetter in the Cabrillo Handicap, and Dr. A. J. Chlad's Good Report, who was awarded victory in the San Diego Handicap with the disqualification of Mark's Place.

Two Breakers Tilts on Tap; Championship Play Sept. 7-9

The IVA Western Division Champions, the San Diego Breakers, dropped 2 of 3 road matches last week but with "games to burn" will still come out on top, even if they lose their last 3 matches. With a 28-9 record, the Breakers are too far in front of second place L.A. for the Stars to catch them.

Saturday, Phoenix made IVA history by stuffing the Breakers 3-0, the only team to blank San Diego this year. After losing a tie-breaker to El Paso the night before, the Phoenix win made it 2 losses in a row for the Breakers, also a first for the season. Fatigue from long driving, several minor injuries, and the absence of chief setter, Dodge Parker, all contributed to the Breakers' losses.

Santa Barbara Here

The Breakers meet Santa Barbara in the Sports Arena tonight for a match which many feel will be a preview to the IVA Playoffs. If both San Diego and Santa Barbara can meet on the 9th of September in the IVA Finals at the Sports Arena, it should be one of the most exciting combinations obtainable. The Spikers are probably the most improved team in the IVA, winning more than twice as many matches in the 2nd half of the 4 month season as in the first half. The return of Stan Gosciniak and the acquisition of Lino Gama both occurred at mid-season.

ABC Women's Superstar, Mary Jo Peppler, comes to the Sports Arena Saturday with the Phoenix Heat to battle San Diego in the Breakers last match of the season.

Dodge Parker should be back in action to run the Breakers' dynamite offense and give the Heat some trouble. Parker has been out more than a week with torn ligaments in his thumb and did not make the road trip to encounter Phoenix.

Playoffs Next

The 7th and 9th of September are the nights the Sports Arena will be handling the IVA Playoffs. Matches will begin at 7:30 p.m. both nights. Ticket prices for one match are the same as season matches, but a playoff package offers tickets for both nights for $7, $6, $5 and $2.50.

Doubleheader Set For Ascot Track

GARDENA — An unusual doubleheader, involving NASCAR modifieds in a 50-lap Winston Series double-point race on the half-mile and off-road VW sprint sedans on the Motorcycle TT course, will open championship car owner J. C. Agajanian's four-day "Salute to Ontario" at Ascot Friday night at 8:30 p.m.

While Agajainian commutes from Ontario Motor Speedway where he and partner Grant King have entered two cars from the California 500, the Ascot president will also be staging a unique California Racing Association 100-lap event Saturday night, a Figure-8 100-lap open championship and demolition derby Sunday night, and a Labor Day United States Auto Club midget race Monday night.

In the Saturday night CRA competition, a 44-man field will be split according to odd-and-even qualifying into two 33-lap races. The top 12 in each race will then go into a 34-lap finale. A victory in two of three events would help Jimmy Oskie of Downey extend his CRA point lead.

The Sunday night Figure-8 open champion will consist of 100 laps of main event racing with the fastest qualifiers starting the first 25 laps. Three succeeding 25-lap events will replace the cars eliminated. The derby is open competition.

1976 Olympics on Sunday Program

Eleven San Diego Olympic participants — two more than representsd the entire state of Ohio, will appear in a program saluting them Sunday 5-7 p.m. at the Recital Hall in Balboa Park.

The tribute was planned by Mickey Tyler, a former track Olympian, who now sponsors Mickey's Missiles, a track organization for young people.

Scheduled to appear are this year's Olympians Arnie Robison, Greg Louganis, Dennis Conner, Lynn Silliman, Robbie Haines, Marty Lockwood, Bill McMillan, Ed Mendoza, Tom Mount, Pete Scmock and Quenton Wheeler.

KGTV Ch. 10's Hal Clement will serve as m.c. Dr. George Rhoden, also a former Olympic track and field star, and San Diego's Mayor Pete Wilson will be on the program.

The event is free and the public is invited.

V.M.A. Sponsors Horse Seminar

Horse owners — and their number is legion in San Diego County — should be interested in a seminar planned for Saturday September 11 1-3:30 p.m. in the Cutlass Room, Holiday Inn, Mission Valley.

G. Marvin Beeman, D.M.V., of Littleton, Colorado, will discuss horse conformation and how its shape and size has to do with its function and soundness.

Conformation of the horse, according to Dr. Beeman, is the key to his method of progression. A working animal, the horse's value is determined by the condition of his limbs and feet. The proportions of the body conformation as compared with the limb conformation, may determine whether or not there will be any type of interference of the limbs during progression. That finding often determines the useful lifetime of a horse.

The seminar is sponsored by the Equine Chapter of the S.D. Veterinary Medical Assn. and admission is $5. Reservations may be made at 466-3400.

Chinese Hoopsters Booked by USD

A touring all-star basketball team from the Republic of China (Taiwan) will visit UCD on November 24 at 8 p.m.

The ROC's basketball team has thirteen other games scheduled on their tour including stops at Air Force, Stanford, Santa Clara, Las Vegas, and Pepperdine. USD will be the only NCAA Division II school to host the RoC's team.

Chargers Return to Stadium In 1976 Pre-Season Finale

Charger tight end Pat Curran will be honored Saturday before the 8 p.m. kick-off in the game with the New York Giants (4-1). He will be handed a check for $1,000 and a sculptured trophy from the San Diego Union and Evening Tribune as the "Charger Player of the Year — 1975."

If the season ended today the 1976 choice would be tough. It might end as the beauty contest did in a town overrun with young ladies—none pretty. Although more than two dozen entered the contest, they were all so ugly that nobody won.

A 3-2 pre-season doesn't set the climate for the rest of the year — neither does it produce a beauty contest winner.

The image of the Chargers has been improved vastly, however, by the appearance of Mercury Morris formerly of the Dolphins and Clint Longley, quarterback who recently fought his way out of the Dallas Cowboys outfit.

May Have Won

To say he won the fight with Roger Staubach may be proven correct depending on his performance with the Chargers. The field is wide open. He can make himself famous.

A pair to watch Saturday night at San Diego's Stadium is Larry Csonka and Mercury Morris. They once formed a devastating backfield combo for the Miami Dolphins. Saturday they meet as rivals. Mr. Csonka meet Mr. Morris.

The Chargers so far beat New England 26-17 and Philadelphia 20-7. They lost to Seattle and San Francisco 17-16 each game, and St. Louis 20-10. And the surprising Giants are no pushovers.

The final game before the season officially starts will be Jr. Charger Night with members of the new fan club admitted free with a paying fan. The club is open to all kids under 15 for a fee of $1.

Clocks Added

30-second clocks, each 4x6, will be in operation for the first time in the Stadium Saturday night. The NFL innovation will allow fans to count down the 30-second time limit for a team to begin scrimmage play.

The NFL play-for-keeps starts with the season opener September 12 at Kansas City. Another no-pushover. That is followed by a game at Tampa Bay September 19.

This week's game will be broadcast on KSDO and the tape delayed version will be aired on TV39 Sunday at 7:30.

Good seats are still available for Saturday's game at the stadium.

'Funnycar' Volare Wins at 226 mph

E. IRVINE — Ed "Ace" McCulloch presented his all-new Plymouth Volare on a triumphant note Saturday evening at Orange County International Raceway, winning AA/Funny Car honors in "The Summer Festival of Funny Cars."

McCulloch's sleek new entry qualified second at 6.46 seconds, then recorded a 6.37-226.70 m.p.h. in round 1 to defeat Neil Leffler's 6.70-180.72, then an eased up 6.71-201.34 to get by troubled Gary Southern and then the final round 6.34-229.00 that narrowly outdistanced Jake Johnston in the Pisano & Matsubara Monza at 6.52-211.76.

Johnston, who holds the O.C.I.R. track record at 6.17 seconds, qualified with the quickest time of 6.35 seconds, then defeated Pat Foster, Dave Uyehara and John Lombardo before falling to McCulloch in the final.

McCulloch's final round times stood for both the quickest and fastest clockings of the event.

The co-featured BB/Funny Car category was captured by Edmonton, Alberta, Canada's Doug Moody.

Moody, a last minute entrant, pushed his low slung Corvette to the uncontested title as final round for Sherm Gunn was forced to a premature shut-down caused by an oil leak.

The Canadian also set low elapsed time at 6.87 seconds and the fastest speed at 202.70 m.p.h.

Local Bus Service For September Games

There'll be bus service to the Chargers last pre-season game Saturday. SD Transit buses will leave College Grove at 6:30 for the N.Y. Jets game which starts at 8 p.m.

Buses will carry passengers from College Grove to all of the Padre games this month. Service starts one and a half hours before game time.

For the L.A. games September 6-7 and for the Atlanta games 8-9, buses leave at 5:30. The Houston game on the 10 starts at 6 p.m.; bus service starts at 4:30.

For the remaining Houston game on the 11, and Cincinnati games on 27-28-29, service starts at 5:30.

The fare is 50 cents each way.

Broken Records Probable In Bay Thunderboat Races

Hydroplane racing season's grand finale — the Jack in the Box Thunderboats Unlimited Race — is scheduled for San Diego September 19.

Anticipation of an exciting climax is abetted by several of the sport's top drivers who plan to make this last race a record-breaking event.

Drivers hope to break the lap speed record, the qualifying record, and maybe even the heat record. The area, being at sea level, will keep the boats' motors at an ideal temperature, and salt water allows the boats to move faster than in fresh water.

Races will be held on Mission Bay, the only waterway in the U.S. constructed specifically to meet the requirements of unlimited hydroplane racing. Public viewing of the race will be excellent from Fiesta Island, East Vacation Island, and Crown Point Shores.

Proceeds of the race will benefit the Boys' Clubs of San Diego, a non-profit organization, who will be promoting audience participation and collecting tour fees.

A star participant in the races is San Diego's own Bill Muncey, this year's winner of both the driver and boat national championships for unlimited hydroplane racing.

Muncey, a resident of La Mesa, has won the President's Cup Regatta five times, more than any other driver. He was also the moving force in saving unlimited facing in the San Diego area.

Qualifying events are September 16-18. The area will be open to the public and guided pit tours have been scheduled. Ceremonies begin at 11 a.m. on Sunday, the 19th, with flag raisings and a skiing performance by the Mission Bay Boat and Ski Club. The races begin at noon and will continue until 5 p.m. Events will be concluded with a Bar-B-Q dinner in the pits for everyone.

Tax, School Aid From Dog Tracks Seen by Ed Runge

Former American League umpire Ed Runge told the sportscasters luncheon meeting at the Town and Country Hotel Tuesday that passage of Proposition 13, the greyhound initiative, would be a boon to all of California, and specifically to San Diego county, which would have one of the eight new multi-million dollar tracks to be built.

Runge, one of the most colorful baseball umpires of recent decades said that "California needs Proposition 13 because it will mean so much to so many disadvantaged people and offers the promise of tax relief to citizens who are already heavily overburdened."

$7,000 a School

Every high school in San Diego would receive approximately $7,000 from pari-mutuel funds allocated to the general fund and distributed by the legislature to assist athletic programs, both for boys and girls, Runge said. In addition, senior citizens, working mothers, juveniles, and physically and mentally handicapped persons would share approximately $3.7 million annually without adding to the existing tax load.

"As a result of passage of Proposition 13," Runge said, "a responsible legislature could very easily provide much needed tax relief as a result of the possible $75 million windfall which greyhound racing would provide."

The San Diego track would bring more than $12.5 million in private construction funds to benefit local construction labor forces and suppliers, and add a permanent payroll for more than 460 persons. A racing schedule of 104 days could begin in temporary facilities in 1977, with permanent track completed by 1978, Runge said.

Elroy, Curro, Moro In Seaside Ring Holiday Corrida

A front-line cartel is scheduled for the Labor Day Weekend corrida Sunday in the bullring by the sea, Plaza Monumental de Tijuana.

It features matadors Eloy Cavazos, Curro Rivera, and Humberto Moro Jr. facing six bulls of Mimiahuapam beginning at 4 p.m.

Because of the holiday and the prestige of the cartel, a large turnout is expected at the 22,000-seat arena.

Cavazos, 26, of Monterrey has again been a star of the season. The five-foot, two-inch torero has made four popular appearances, winning six ears from the eight bulls he has faced making him the top award-winner of the campaign. He became a full-fledged matador 10 years ago just three days after his 16th birthday on August 28.

Rivera, 24, of Mexico City has been one of the hard-luck cases of the summer. The handsome and popular matador, a star since he was 16, has gone without awards in three Tijuana appearances.

Left Handed

But at times he has been superb. An example was his toil with his second bull, a foe of Mimiahuapam, in the season's opener May 2. Rivera gave most of the faena left-handed — the most dangerous way — and endured many hooking moves by the bull. But he had trouble killing.

On July 11 he was outstanding with his second bull until the animal became took weak to permit Rivera to look good.

On July 18 he clearly deserved an ear for his first performance for his fine left-handed work with a bull that was hooking for him. Rivera's sword was good and quickly effective. But judge and fans were cold.

Moro, 18, of Mexico City has been fighting professionally a little more than two years. For his Tijuana work last summer he won the Clarin magazine trophy as best swordsman.

Boat Show Next Week

The First Annual San Diego In-The-Water Boat Show will be held at Mission Bay Marina Sept. 11-19 with 50 per cent of the gate proceeds to be donated to the City of Hope, a free non-sectarian pilot medical center.

The show will feature approximately $2 million in power and said boats, and is said to be a major display of the newest, even some 1977 models, and the largest power and sail boats built in the U.S.

Mission Bay Marina is reachfrom Sea World dr., proceeding two miles and turning right on West Mission Bay dr. and then immediately left to Mission Bay Marina.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

You gotta maintain a sense of humor in this writing dodge or you'll pound your portable into serious condition and end up bananas.

My main instructor in this sports reporting racquet, Big Al Couppee, laid the law down in the early stages of my study. "Do your homework, know what you're talking about and give everybody an even break," was the way he put it.

Pretty sound advice for a beginning writer, or a seasoned scribe or just about anyone, be he butcher, baker or law maker.

The two go hand-in-hand, knowing your beat and keeping your tongue-in-cheek. And if you have a little talent, success is just up the street. Even then, reflections from my mirror tell me that two out of three ain't bad.

Even so, fact dressed up smiles is the aim out of this machine and it usually takes a car load of mis-direction to stir up the temper and anger the juices.

And you guessed it. Such a happening came about since last I pounded on this portable.

It was a letter to the Sports Editor in the San Diego Union published last week taking Randy Jones to task for being a "self-centered, conceited, contemptible brat."

The writer was some turkey from Bonita who didn't use his name, or at least it wasn't printed with his ill-formed, untrue, childish, unknowledgeable diatribe.

You can look it up. It was printed Friday, Aug. 27 on page C-3 of the Union, which those of us on this staff like to refer to as "that other paper."

And it certainly wasn't Union policy. They just reprinted a letter this turkey sent them. It was no reason to lose my cool. But I did. Not at the paper, of course. Just the turkey who wrote the letter.

There are only a handful of truly great, super guys that stay the same, salt-of-the-earth, everyday, true blue, all-American, apple pie kind of guy they were before the hand of fame lit the flame that blazed their name across the sky as super hero of the jock set.

A lot of ordinary nice guys have trouble with their hat size when fame lays on its claim. The pressure is great and the course unknown on this largely untraveled path. Not many are called. Fewer make it.

Dandy Randy does. He is a bona fide hero of substance who keeps both feet planted solidly on the carpet. His goals remain unchanged. His values stay the same and all his friends remain.

It is a matter of some human interest that Padre pitching coach Roger Craig had to convince Jones of his magnitude. Craig called Randy aside after his loss to St. Louis in his first quest for his 20th win and said words to the effect that Jonesy should look at the record for a measure of his real ability. A 16-3 mark in the first half said he was the best in either league, port or starboard.

Craig sowed the seed of a growing positive approach in the Jones kid. It isn't something new. Randy always took a positive view, but now he extends it past the day-to-day limitations of days gone by.

I expect to win every game I start," is hardly a boast among athletes. Who would have it any different? Only losers expect to lose.

And does he come all unglued after a tough loss? Is that what the turkey from Bonita wants? Sorry Charlie. The Jones kid is more man than that. He is truly "muy macho." Stick that in your ear, fella.

"I just put it down like it doesn't matter," he philosophized after losing his second try for 20 on an unearned run in a 1-0 loss.

And what did he do after he won his 20th tilt? He waved happily to his thundering fans, talked to all the press, legitimate and electronic, then went into the players room and drank beer and celebrated with his best friends and playing partners, the rank and file of the Padre team.

Only a turkey would rip Randy. Why, I'd give up drinking beer before I'd do an unAmerican thing like that. Or print a letter that did.

Grove House Damaged in Narcotics Raid Explosion

A Lemon Grove man was taken into custody Thursday morning when Federal narcotics agents raided his laboratory in the garage as his residence at 2021 69th st.

The man, Edward Jenkins, 31, was placed in the Metropolitan Correctional Center in San Diego.

Several U.S. Drug Enforcement Agency officers with search warrants raided the residence at 2 a.m. and took Jenkins into custody when they found a laboratory in his garage with chemicals and equipment used in the manufacture of amphethamines.

A small explosion started a fire when the laboratory was being dismantled and several chemicals mixed. The fire was extinguished before the arrival of trucks of the Lemon Grove and the San Diego Fire Departments arrived.

No injuries were reported but damage to the structure was estimated to be about $500.

Cops 2-Thieves 0 in Local Gun Theft Action

Two guns stolen; two guns recovered is the score of cops against burglars in the Spring Valley-Lemon Grove area.

The home of Roy Davis, of 2210 Debco dr., Lemon Grove, was burglarized recently and missing in the loot was a .38 cal. S&W pistol valued at $150.

Davis had given up hope of getting his gun back weeks before but an alert San Diego Police officer, answering a call which reported that someone had fired a gun in a drive-in theatre on Euclid ave. in San Diego, provided new hope.

There, officer Gary Stewart located Desi Arnez Beale, who reportedly had fired two shots in the air. The serial number on the gun was the same as the one on the gun reported stolen from Davis' house.

Involved was still another suspect from whom Beale claims the gun was obtained.

Youth is Finder

On August 24 a burglar entered the home of James Paige Falk, of 750 Broadview st., Spring Valley by way of a sliding glass door. The burglar took Falk's .22 cal. semi-automatic pistol and holster worth $65 and made good his getaway.

The next day Larry Frederick Carmer, a youth who lives at 751 Broadview, told his mother he found the gun on a path along Sweetwater near Jamacha rd. His mother called sheriff's deputies and the gun was returned to its owner.

Shopping Corner Is 80% Leased

More than 80 per cent of the space in the Lemon Grove Center at Broadway and Kempf street has been leased, according to Bill Nies, of Thomas-Fletcher-Nicol Company, exclusive leasing agent.

Nies said current tenants in the $1 million retail and commercial center include Lavicio's, Jack-in-the-Box, Pizza Hut, Baskin-Robbins, and Scandia Smorgasbord. Just 3,000 square feet in the 20,000 square foot center are still available, Nies said. It is the newest center in the area, he added.

Pizza Hut is remodeling the building it will eventually occupy and Baskin-Robbins has yet to move in, but the other three are doing business at the site.

Thomas-Fletcher-Nical Company is a diversified San Diego commercial and industrial real estate firm with offices at 2550 Fifth avenue.

Building Boom Stays

Building permits continue to increase in San Diego County with dollar value increasing along with them.

In July 1,916 permits were issued with a value of $33,-165,319. In July, last year, 375 were issued and the value was $20,370,785.

For the year to day, 10,251 permits worth $205,569,894 were issued. For the same period a year ago the total was 7,249 permits worth $117,138,-427.

Taped Message Diverts ⅓ of Info Callers

Directory assistance operators are handling roughly two-thirds as many calls as they did before a recorded announcement was put into service in early August, the telephone company reported this week.

The message, which urges callers to refer to their own telephone directories before asking operators for numbers, is getting better results than had been expected, according to E. J. Brunick, Pacific Telephone's general manager.

The telephone executive said that when the recorded announcement was introduced August 2, the company had hoped for a 25 per cent reduction in Directory Assistance calls.

Instead the number of calls dropped 32 per cent or from 184,000 a day to 125,120, according to Brunick.

Brunick was pleased with customer response to the simple, nine-second message that greets callers when they dial 411: "If you've checked your directory and are unable to find the number you wish, please stay on the line and a Directory Assistance operator will answer. Thank you."

"The fact that more people are looking up the numbers themselves is an indication that the public is becoming more concerned about keeping telephone costs down," Brunick said.

On the basis of current calling volume, he added the company figures to save about $350,000 a month. It costs Pacific Telephone about 20 cents for each call handled by an operator, he said.

The projected $4.2 million annual savings is $600,000 more than had been predicted.

Although the number of calls has dropped dramatically, Brunick said there'd been no operator layoffs "nor are any planned."

"Transfers, readjustments and attrition will take care of any excess number of operators," he concluded.

Preparing for Disaster Saves Lives in Quake

Part Two in a Series

Because San Diego County is in earthquake country we can expect to have quakes. Some of these shocks will be of damaging intensity, but the state of the science of earthquake prediction is not advanced as yet. Therefore, future tremblors will strike without warning.

We have discussed steps to take before a quake strikes—steps which should already have been completed.

Now we can learn the actions to take and some of the actions to beware of during the actual shock.

During an Earthquake

Try to remain calm, think out each action.

There will be an eerie noise, intense shaking and falling debris — but the shaking is usually over in a minute or less. It is disorientng because your reference plane, terra firma, is no longer solid and stable. Be ready for these occurrences.

Move quickly but cautiously away from window areas, outside walls, chimneys, and shelving. Kneel down under a heavy table or desk and cover your head with your hands.

If no such furniture item is nearby, stand in a doorway or against a substantial interior wall. Wait until the shaking has stopped.

After the initial shock and when all debris has settled, think out your next moves.

Take inventory of your situation; are you injured — how seriously?

If able, get quickly outside, being careful of debris, broken glass, downed power lines, and broken tree limbs.

Meet your family at the prearranged assembly point. Institute a coordinated search for any missing members — keep the search group calm.

Offer first aid and assistance to families living near you.

Do not use the telephone except to report genuine emergencies. Any other use of phones might quickly result in an overload, severely affecting the service.

Beware of aftershocks. Usually, but not always, the first shock is the greatest and later shocks are less intense. The lesser shocks, however, can topple already weakened structures.

Assist emergency crews as requested.

If you smell gas, be prepared to turn off the main gas valve, but do not turn it back on. Leave that to the professionals.

If there is a water main broken in the street or a pipe broken in your house, turn off your main water valve.

If driving, pull to the nearest safe spot out of traffic lanes. Watch what is over you, such as power lines. After the shaking, proceed cautiously, keeping a sharp lookout for broken water mains which undermine pavement, collapsed bridges, emergency traffic, and other hazards. Resist the temptation to go sightseeing.

Don't spread rumors — get all your information from those broadcast stations reporting LIFE messages.

LIFE is an emergency public information system unique to San Diego County. It allows official messages and up-to-date reports to be broadcast over most of the radio and TV stations in the county. It is presently in limited operation.

The next article discuss the rescue and recovery plans for the region and lays to rest some of the myths surrounding earthquakes.

May Permit Clinics In Residential Zones

A public hearing to consider a proposal to amend sections of the Zoning Ordinance to allow "clinic" as a use permitted in R-2, R-2-A, R-3 and R-4 residential zones by special use permit will be held by the Board of Supervisors September 8.

The proposal also includes family care institutions in the R-3 and R-4 residential zones by special use permit. The amendment would affect the unincorporated areas of the County.

The meeting will be held at 2 p.m. in Room 310 of the County Administration Center, 1600 Pacific highway. Specifics are available by phone—565-5895.

Mayfair Manager Cut by Suspect

A woman, one of two suspected of shoplifting, stabbed the store's assistant manager Sunday when he attempted to make a citizen's arrest of the pair.

Lawrence J. Smith, 21, assistant manager of the Mayfair Market, 7663 Broadway, Lemon Grove, was treated for a stab wound in the left forearm after he followed the two women to the Mayfair parking lot. He told sheriff's deputies he had observed the women leave the store with food items for which they had not paid.

The women fled in a car after Smith was cut.

Bean Party Slated At Coup's New Hq

The second semi-annual Grand Opening of the Al Couppee for Assembly campaign headquarters is being held Wednesday 5-7:30 p.m. at 1521 Hotel Circle S.

Burgers, beans and beer will be served he says. Donation of $1 will be accepted.

Couppee was shoved out of his first headquarters in April by the incumbent assemblyman, Larry Kapiloff, who pushed through a bid of $550 a month for the premises. Couppee's people had been paying $200. "Big money speaks," observed Couppee.

The original site was on Sports Arena blvd. in San Diego and Kapiloff, in spite of having one local office, overbid Couppee and Couppee was evicted.

The campaign is in the 78th Assembly District which stretches from Pacific Beach to North Park.

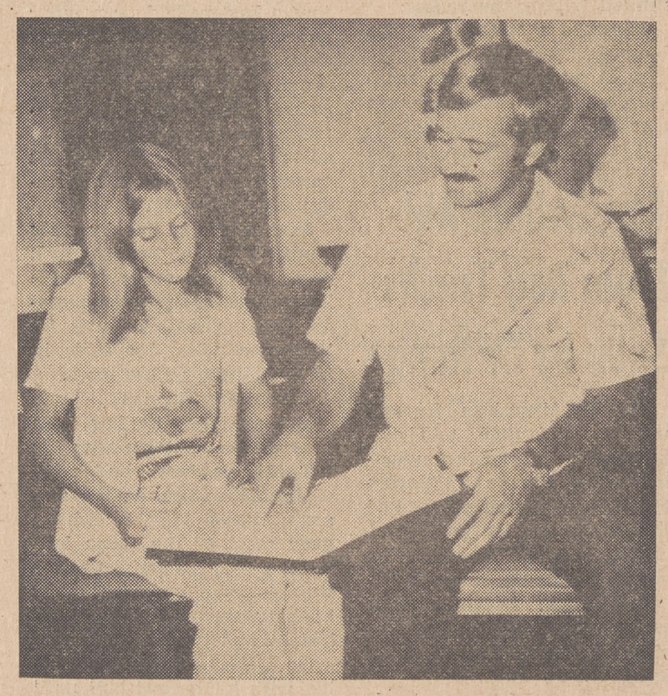
Seth Halvorsen, 70, of 3917 Conrad st., Spring Valley, placed his attache case of the sidewalk before entering his car. He drove away, leaving the case. Later, remembering that he left it, he hurried back but it was too late. The case was gone. This notice is published to aid the finder in returning the property.



THREE FOR SCHOOL BOARD — Three Lemon Grove residents have announced intentions to run for the school governing board vacancy in the Lemon Grove School District. Candidates pictured are Mrs. Carol Chubb (top) with son Martin, 11, a Palm Jr. High student this fall, and their pet dog Barney; Craig Lake (center) with five-year-old daughter Paige, who will attend Monterey Heights this year; and Charles Pennell with his "campaign manager" and daughter Robin, 11, a 6th grader at Mt. Vernon Elementary. Other residents have taken out filing papers from the Registrar of Voters. Filing deadline is Friday.

Helix Board OKs $6 Million Bond Sale for Griffen Park

Sale of $6 million in revenue bonds to finance construction of the reservoir in Harry Griffen Park and other improvements was authorized by the Helix Water District board last week.

Advertising of the bond sale started September 1, and bids will be opened September 15, according to the board's decision.

Construction bids on the reservoir opened Tuesday.

"Reservoir construction is expected to cost about $5.3 million. The remainder of the funds raised by the bond sale will be used to finance a portion of the "flume line" which carries water from Lake Jennings around eastern and southern El Cajon Valley to the reservoir in Harry Griffen Park," said Clarence Watters, Helix general manager.

Funds may also be used for engineering and construction of a pumping station to improve flows in the main transmission lines, he added.

Grossmont Reservoir must be covered to meet modern health standards. The area around and over the reservoir has been offered by Helix Water District for development as a park.

The cities of La Mesa and El Cajon and the District are participating in a study of park feasibility.

"If we can have a general plan ready when construction is completed, we can coordinate our erosion control planting with the plan," Watters said.

In other action, the board agreed to support the reappointment of Bob Rundell as the representative of the water agency in Zone 3 of the San Diego County Flood Control District. Rundell represents Casa de Oro, Spring Valley and southern La Mesa on the Helix board.

The War Against Litter Committee has elected its slate of officers for this coming year.

Serving as president for a second term is Phil Allen, a native San Diegan and a Mission Hills resident.

Robert Swanson and Dale Jones will serve as vice-presidents. Both are residents of Lemon Grove and active in community affairs. Swanson is director for the Parks and Recreation Department in Imperial Beach.

M. Nell Carpenter of La Jolla, a longtime member of the Committee, will serve as secretary. Carpenter has been working on beautification programs with the La Jolla Town Council.

John Caldwell, South East San Diego resident, will retain his post as treasurer for the second year.

Ted Gavett of Serra Mesa and Lee Green of Spring Valley round out the Committee's Executive Board. Green is active with the Spring Valley Chamber of Commerce.

Standing committee chairpersons appointed were Kristine Dinusson, promotion and printing, Pacific Beach; Jess Bennett, special activities, San Diego; Ed Lund, speakers, Point Loma; and Lewis Zollinger, parliamentarian and by-laws, Lemon Grove.

The War Against Litter Committee is a volunteer organization which coordinates and promotes anti-litter educational programs to help clean and beautify the City and County of San Diego.

2 New Trains On SD-LA Run

Two new passenger trains have been put into service this week between San Diego and Los Angeles bring four trips each way daily.

Each will use the plush, new Amfleet equipment. The new runs leave San Diego at 4:10 p.m. and Los Angeles at 8:20 p.m.

State Senator James R. Mills, author of the successful legislation that provides partial state financing for the new trains, said "This is a victory for railroad passenger service, for energy conservation and for cleaner air."

The new train increased trips between San Diego and Los Angeles to four daily each way. The added northbound trip is at 4:10 p.m. Others are at 7 a.m., 1 and 5 p.m. The four trip southbound from L.A. are now 8:30 and 10:30 p.m., and 4:10 and 8:20 p.m.

Auto Exhaust Change Is Sometimes Legal

It is not illegal to modify automobile exhaust systems, according to Capt. C. M. Douglas of the El Cajon office of the California Highway Patrol.

It is not illegal, he says, as long as the modifications do not increase the noise level above the factory-installed system. For example, headers are legal if adequate mufflers are installed on the system to maintain an acceptable noise level and do not alter or reduce the effectiveness of the smog device.

However, expansion chambers, removal of baffles and undersize or inadequate "straight through"-type mufflers are modifications that are illegal for street use.

Douglas advises that those who have doubts about a specific modification or exhaust system to contact El Cajon CHP (440-4303) or a reputable muffler shop before making any changes.

Registration in Progress

Grove Schools to Open Sept. 13 To Similar Size Student Load

Classes will begin Monday, September 13 for an expected 3,600 elementary students in the Lemon Grove School District, about the same number who attended last year.

Expected enrollment declines from graduation will be somewhat offset by several subdivisions nearing completion in the Mt. Vernon Elementary School attendance area, school officials said.

"We have no way of knowing how these (subdivisions) will affect the enrollment, all we can do is guess," said school Superintendent Dr. Robert Sutton.

More ECE

Golden Avenue and Mount Vernon Elementary schools will be introducing the Early Childhood Education (ECE) program for the first time this fall, bringing to four the number of Lemon Grove public schools on that program. ECE, funded by the State, provides a lower adult-pupil ratio by using paid and volunteer aides. Additional supplies and equipment are also made available in the program which emphasizes reading skills using an individualized approach.

San Miguel and Vista La Mesa schools have been ECE schools and will continue to offer the program this year.

Registration

Registration for kindergarten and new students to the community started Wednesday, September 1 when secretarial staffs reported for duty. Students should register at the school of their attendance area.

Children attending Lemon Grove public schools at the close of the semester in June need not re-register, but children who will be attending Lemon Grove School District schools for the first time must be registered.

A child legally enrolled in a school outside the District may be properly admitted to school and be placed in the proper grade upon registration and presentation of evidence of enrollment and grade placement in the former school of attendance.

In order to be admitted to kindergarten a pupil must be five years old on or before December 2, 1976. Minimum entering age for first-graders is five years and nine months.

A birth certificate, baptismal certificate duly attested, passport or affidavit from parent or guardian should be presented at the time of registration.

Important health information such as dates of smallpox, polio and diphtheria inoculations should also be brought at that time.

Both oral and Salk vaccines are acceptable polio inoculations for registration. Excluding those parents who have indicated they are adverse to the polio law, polio inoculations are mandatory. Similar exemption may be obtained for the measles vaccination.

If a child has not received inoculations or vaccinations before entering school, he will be given a two-week grace period in order to do so.

Water Photo Show Booked at Theater

The 12th annual San Diego Underwater Film Festival is presented September 17 and 18, at the San Diego Civic theater. The show begins at 8 p.m. sponsored by the San Diego Underwater Photographic Society, a non-profit organization.

Program for two nights features different films and slides from local photographers and those throughout the world.

Master of ceremonies will be Paul Tzimoulis, publisher of Skin Diver magazine.

Tickets are $4 and available from local dive shops and the San Diego Civic Theater box office.

Bypasses to Help Buses, Carpools Enter 94, 125

Reminiscent of, but not the same as, the Los Angeles "diamond lanes", the California Highway Commission is considering approval of an $810,000 project which would provide bus and carpool bypasses and computerized traffic control devices on entrance ramps to Route 94 and 125.

The Commission plans to allocate $260,000 in state money for the project, the remainder coming from Federal sources. The bypasses would be special entrance lanes for buses and carpool riders, explained Jim Larson, public information officer for Caltrans. No special lanes have been planned on the freeway itself.

The ramp metering devices would control the flow of traffic onto the freeway during morning rush hour. Some meter controls are already directing traffic on westbound 94. The new allocation would place controls at most remaining westbound on ramps on 94 and 125, Larson said.

Despite Increase, SD Utilities Rank Sixth Cheapest in Nation

Despite a national average increase of almost $3 a month in basic utility bills, California ratepayers paid well below the national average rates for gas, electric and telephone service during the past year.

At least that's what the annual official survey of utility rates by the California Public Utilities Commission indicate.

The survey, which is made at the end of the fiscal year by the PUC, is for 70 therms of gas, 300 kilowatt-hours of electricity and 1-party flat rate telephone service in the nation's 25 largest cities.

Rates for Los Angeles, San Diego, and San Francisco continued to be below the $38.33 average of the 25 cities. The total monthly bill for the stated quantities of service place the San Francisco rates at the lowest of the 25 cities, while Los Angeles rates were the fourth lowest and San Diego rates in the number six spot.

Compared to the 1974-75 fiscal year rankings, the total monthly bill for San Franciscans rose from $26.07 to $26.11, while the rates in Los Angeles increased from $29,96 to $31.74 and San Diego rates increased from $32.18 to $32.68. Los Angeles moved up one spot from last year's number five ranking and San Diego improved its position from number 10 to number six on the list.

It is interesting to note, the PUC said, that gas rates for Los Angeles and San Diego for 70 therms actually declined during the past year due to the rate restructuring accommodating the "lifeline" concept.

In 1975 the rate for 70 therms was $12.79 for Los Angeles customers of Southern California Gas and as of June 30, the rate amounted to $12.25.

For San Diego Gas & Electric customers, the decrease was 64 cents, from $13.70 last year to $13.06 this year.

The PUC survey also showed that electric rates for 300 kilowatt hours went up $2 a month for Los Angeles Department of Water and Power customers and $1.14 for SDG& E customers. The DWP is not under PUC jurisdiction.

Basic telephone residential exchange rates remained constant in both Los Angeles and San Diego at $5.70 a month.

"Added fuel oil costs and natural gas costs, which reflect the general world-wide energy crisis, are largely responsible for the higher rates passed on to consumers," PUC President David W. Holmes said.

Although there is no assurance in the foreseeable future that fuel cost escalation and utility rates will stabilize, attempts are being made to hold down the impact on residential users through the establishment of the conservation rate quantities, commonly referred to as "lifeline" rates, he said.

He indicated that implementation of the conservation concept will not be fully felt until major rate cases currently before the Commission are decided. At the same time, Holmes noted, all utilities are in a "financial bind" which will necessitate getting adequate rates to assure their financial stability.

Currently before the PUC are general rate applications by Pacific Gas and Electric Company, General Telephone Company of California and Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company. These rate applications are expected to have a marked effect on utility rates in the coming year.

CHP Says Big Rig Drivers Require Class I License

The California Highway Patrol office cautions drivers towing large trailers that they may be driving out of classification.

Drivers are required to have a Class One driver's license when hauling a trailer weighing more than 6,000 pounds, gross weight. Gross weight includes trailer weight and load.

Trailers most likely to fall into this category are the large, fifth-wheel house trailers, trailers hauling heavy equipment such as tractors or trailers used to carry four or more horses.

A person must successfully pass a written test, a driving test and a medical examination to qualify for a Class One driver's license.

Full requirements may be obtained at a CHP office or any branch of the Division of Motor Vehicles.

Legislators Fear of Regulators Emerging

By Assemblyman Bill Craven

Increasingly, many appointive commissions have been handling the growing burdens of government throughout the country. These citizens groups hold responsibility for dealing with the complex problems of an increasingly complex society. Many are helpful advisors to the elected representatives who appoint them — city councils, county boards of supervisors, state and federal legislative and executive branches of government.

However, many of these boards and commissions are empowered with regulatory functions. Despite the fact they are not elected by the people, the appointees can write and implement regulations which carry the weight of law. The lawmakers who appoint them are usually powerless to review and approve or veto regulations which affect virtually every citizen directly and indirectly.

Many California lawmakers are now seriously concerned that these non-elected regulators are overzealous and too frequently exceed the intent of the Legislature.

New Minimum

A case in point is a set of newly issued regulations which affect each of California's 450,000 employers. The far-reaching work rules recently issued by the California Industrial Welfare Commission (IWC) are due to effect October 18. The required public notice covered four newspaper pages of classified ad type when published two weeks ago.

Among many other things, the IWC regulations impose industrial-type work rules on the agricultural sector and require all California employers to implement use of time clocks. But one of the most controversial IWC measures raises the state minimum wage well above federal levels.

Effective October 18, the state minimum hourly wage will be $2.50. The federal requirement is $2.30.

Most California workers are paid above these rates. However, a controversy rages over the effect on the job-hungry young, unskilled, elderly, and handicapped. Many social organizations such as Goodwill Industries and others are deeply concerned. The regulations threaten their ability to provide meaningful employment to people who are unable to compete in the open job market. If the IWC work rules are allowed to stand, say these agencies, many of these jobs will be too costly to continue. Making matters worse, small businesses are saying marginal "make-work" jobs will be mechanized.

Exceeds Authority

Many California lawmakers say that the IWC has exceeded its legislative directive. In an eager pursuit of social betterment for all Californians, the IWC is actually hurting the people it wants to help.

Unless the IWC reconsiders its action, the only remedy can come from the Legislature. A resolution (ACR 232) has been introduced by several Republican Assemblymen asking the Assembly Labor Relations to find ways to curb the IWC's regulatory powers. In effect, the committee chairman and the Assembly speaker have been asked to hold hearings throughout the state to hear firsthand the damage that will be caused by the IWC's short-sighted action. Corrective legislation could then come when the next session of the Legislature gets underway January 1.

Broadway Robbery Nets Pair $30

Two white males took part in an armed robbery of the Broadway Fotomat at 7289 Broadway about 6 p.m. August 24, sheriff's records show.

Kim A. Rouhotas, Fotomat clerk, said, one of the robbers displayed a fancy hunting knife and said "This is a robbery. Give me you 10s and 20s." She handed him three 10s and the pair rode away on a motorcycle. One of the men was said to be about 25.

The envelope in which the money had been placed was there but the $500 left therein had been taken.

Ortman Drops Out Of 2nd. Sups Race

The candidate chosen to represent some of the unsuccessful candidates in a write-in campaign for the second supervisorial post, has pulled his hat out of the ring.

John Ortman, operator of Farrell's Ice Cream Parlours in San Diego, said campaign pledges fell short of the need to successfully wage a write-in campaign.

He recommended that the write-in organization instead encourage a committee to monitor the candidates for the post and county government.

Too much control in land use, the rapid growth of government and protection of property rights should hold such a committee's attention, Ortman said.

The losing candidates drafted Ortman as a write-in alternative to Lucille Moore and Walt Kenrick because they were dissatisfied with the run-off candidates' views.

The six unsuccessful candidates who backed Ortman were Fletcher Diehl, Dick White, David Eden, Peter Cuthbert, Ivan Huyser and Loren McCannon. There were 21 candidates in all for retiring Dick Brown's seat.

In the runoff in November are Moore, an El Cajon Councilman, and Kenrick, a lieutenant in the S.D. County Sheriff's office.

Beware White Collar Crime

Life Insurance, Mail Order Sometimes Not Bargains

Second of a Series

Economic or "White Collar" crime remains a debilitating force in the American economy. Criminals, preying upon an economy already weakened by inflation, continue to fleece individual citizens, businesses, investors, financial institutions and government itself of an estimated $40 billion annually. To combat economic crime, San Diego County District Attorney Edwin L. Miller, Jr. has prepared this series of articles to inform the public of day-to-day means of this type of criminal activity.

Nearly every consumer encounters a pitch to buy life insurance.

Life insurance can be traced to ancient Rome where the

District Attorney Ed Miller

collegia — the Roman Societies — paid the burial expenses of members who died.

Life insurance started in the United States before the American Revolution when Presbyterian Ministers' Fund was organized in 1759. Today, it is one of more than 1,550 life insurance companies in the United States.

While the majority of life insurance agencies are reputable and their advice invaluable, evidence exists that a policy holder sometimes is given false or misleading information as a means of persuading him to cash in a present policy and buy another.

Often the family the consumer wished to protect is left with little or nothing in such dubious transactions.

The consumer should contact the state to determine the reputation of the company before changing or buying new policies. The protection and security insurance companies and their agents are closely regulated and supervised under state law. In California, the State Department of Insurance handles consumer inquiries and complaints.

Another potential deception is insurance agent's terminology. Some terms may mean something to them and something different to the consumer. Don't accept a fuzzy term at its face value. Make sure you clearly understand what it means and make the agent explain and re-explain until you are sure you know what he is talking about.

Another business, almost as old as insurance, is mail order shopping.

As with the insurance agencies, the great majority of mail order companies are legitimate and honest, but exceptions exist.

Many problems arise as a result of people mislabeling their orders, forgetting to write names or addresses. Some write too soon to complain. Four to six weeks is a reasonable waiting period for delivery of mail-ordered products.

In California, unordered merchandise received in the mail may be considered a gift. The consumer does not have to pay for the product and it is illegal for the company to bill for payment for the unsolicited goods. In fact, only clearly marked "free samples" and merchandise mailed by charitable groups asking for a contribution can be mailed to the consumer in the first place without the consumer's consent; and, even in these cases, the merchandise can be considered a gift.

Mail-order shoppers should beware of exaggerated claims or unrealistically low prices. Catalogs should be read carefully. Keep a copy of the ad or brochure used in ordering.

If in dobut about a company, check with the Better Business Bureau or the D.A.'s office before placing an order.

Place the order at least four weeks before the merchandise is needed and check for a cut-off date, after which delivery will not be guaranteed. Pay by check or money order and be sure to include any shipping and handling charges. Never send cash.

Promptly check your order upon receipt to make sure the item is what was ordered, that it is undamaged and satisfactory. If not, notify the company at once.

About Your Health

This feature is a publication of the California Medical Education and Research Foundation, prepared and edited by physician members of the California Medical Association, 731 Market st., San Francisco, California 94103.

Weathered Skin—Too Much Sun

Wrinkles and dry skin are part of the normal aging process, but over-exposure to the sun hastens the process. In California, where sun-seeking is a way of life, many people prematurely develop weathered skin. These skin changes are cosmetically unattractive and may become a health problem.

Repeated excessive exposure to the sun's ultraviolet rays causes irreversible damage to the skin. This type of damage is additive and in time it results in visible skin changes. The skin may become dry and wrinkled. Blotchy pigmentation and scaly patches (actinic kerotoses) may develop on the face, hands, scalp and other exposed areas. Since these lesions are sometimes the forerunner of skin cancer, they should be treated by a doctor. These lesions present in small numbers can be removed individually by the doctor. When multiple lesions are present the doctor may prescribe a chemical treatment for the skin of the affected area.

The doctor will perform a biopsy and pathology examination of lesions that he suspects may be malignant. If the suspicion is confirmed, the malignancy may be treated by electrosurgery, surgical excision, cryotherapy or radiation therapy. The choice of treatment depends on the type of malignancy and the size and location of the lesion.

Anyone who has had skin cancer or precancerous keratosis should take precautions to prevent additional sun damage. Not all commercial suntan preparations are protective. Your doctor can recommend an appropriate ultraviolet cream or lotion for regular use. Remember that the sunscreens may wash off if you go in swimming or if you sweat profusely; they should be reapplied frequently. Clothing offers an excellent protection and hats are important, particularly for the person whose hair is thinning.

There is no doubt that an active outdoor life is conducive to good health. Precautions against weathered skin and the development of skin cancer need not limit a person to a sheltered, sedentary life. Moderation in the amount of sun exposure and a few simple precautions are helpful.

Sun worshippers should keep in mind:

- The summer sun is least likely to damage your skin before 10 a.m. and after 4 p.m.
- If you sunburn easily, cover up after a moderate exposure to the sun.
- Use a sunscreening lotion or cream if you have a fair skin. A number of protective creams on the market will screen out the ultraviolet rays. Although you can buy these creams without a prescription, you should ask your doctor to recommend one.
- Do not apply oils such as baby oil or olive oil to your skin when you are exposed to the sun; they increase the damage rather than prevent it.
- The fair-skinned, blue-eyed, light-haired person is especially susceptible to damage from the sun; however, even persons who are dark-skinned or who tan easily and beautifully can develop weathered skin if they are over-exposed to sun year after year.
- Sunlamps, excellent though they are when used under medical supervision to treat certain diseases, can do as much damage as the sun itself if used indiscriminately.

Cohelan Urges Debate

Tim Cohelan, Democratic candidate for the 77th Assembly District, this week invited his Republican opponent Jim Ellis to participate in a series of four debates during the month of September and October.

The proposed topics would include education, property tax reform, criminal justice, medical malpractice, and planned urban growth. Cohelan said that it is highly appropriate for candidates to debate the issues in public in order that the constituents might be apprised of the candidates' positions on the issues.

Cohelan proposed this series of debates in a letter to Jim Ellis. He suggested that each debate be held in a different part of the 77th Assembly District, the specific locations to be arranged through representatives of each candidate's staff.
